Shabbat HaGadol Service (10:30)

According to tradition, Shabbat HaGadol was one of two occasions on which the rabbi of a town would give a sermon – usually of great length. A (relatively new) Alyth tradition is to ensure that on Shabbat HaGadol the sermon is given not by our clergy but by one of our members. On this Shabbat HaGadol, we are extending this idea, and our service will be led by a variety of Alyth members from their homes, with Rabbi Elliott joining them from the Beit Tefillah.

Pesach 5781

Sunday 28 March
Second Night Pesach Communal S'darim

Online Community Seder (18:00)

One of the central obligations of the Pesach Seder is to tell the story of the Exodus as though we were enslaved in Egypt. Over nearly a year of lockdown, many of us may feel the experience of enslavement more acutely than ever. Join Rabbi Elliott, Cantor Tamara, Lynette and Katie to sing and pray with our community, celebrating our Exodus from Egypt together. We will read and sing through the Hagaddah together before having a chance to eat the seder meal, either together on Zoom or off-screen. After the meal, there will be an opportunity to join different breakout rooms to sing, study, or reflect.

Study: Join Rabbi Elliott for an exploration of the various items on the seder plate and their meanings, as well as some alternate objects that you may have seen on Seder plates in more recent years.

Sing: Join Cantor Tamara and Katie to sing some favorite Pesach tunes, and to learn one or two new ones.

Reflect: Join Lynette to reflect on whether we can draw any parallels between the coming out of Egypt and the coming out of lockdown. What will our journey look like going forward?

Please click here to register and to indicate which breakout session you'd like to attend.
